Reading Submissive Body Language and Energy

Presented by Lady Solaris

- Biographical Information of Presenter
- Getting to know your sub's personality
- submissive muscles and neurological structure
- Your eyes: how to read Your sub through sight
- Your ears: how to read Your sub through sound
- Your hands: how to read Your sub through touch
- Your gut: how to read Your sub through instinct

Biography of Presenter

- Solaris is a lifestyle Domme with a 24/7 submissive (caelum)
- Solaris's collegiate studies have included coursework on:
  - Psychology: study of the mind
  - Sociology: study of human social interaction
  - Intra/inter-personal Communication
  - Human Sexuality
  - Kinesics: study of human body language

Getting to Know the sub

- First meeting
  - Learn about...
    - Kinks they enjoy
    - Kinks they do not enjoy but would like to try
    - Kinks they never want to try
      - Perhaps have them fill out a survey
    - Health Issues
    - A little bit of their background
      - Like why they came into BDSM
      - If they have a history of abuse towards them
      - Etc.

- Before heavy play always make sure to ask the submissive how they are feeling mentally and physically

- If You do not want to ask, make sure to think ahead and think about how your sub will react to what you do

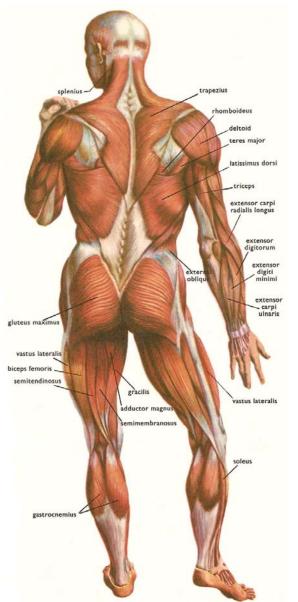

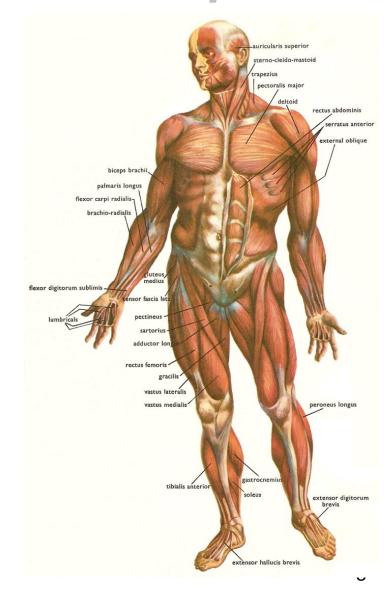

- Make sure You know the mental and physical situation of the sub by using
  - Discussions or
  - Journaling

- What are muscles?
  - A body tissue consisting of long cells that contract when stimulated and produce motion

submissive Muscle Systems

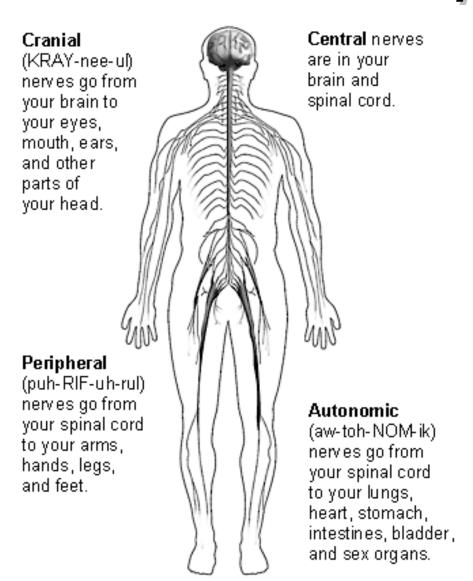

- Type of Muscle We are most concerned with
  - Skeletal muscle or "voluntary muscle"
    - Anchored by tendons to bone and is used to affect skeletal movement such as locomotion and in maintaining posture

- What are nerves?
  - A bundle of fibers that transmit electrical messages between the brain and areas of the body; these messages convey sensory or motor function information

submissive Nervous System

- Why am I telling You this?
  - Muscles and nerves are involved in body movement and body language
  - -When You know what these are and how they work together they will make it easier for You to read Your sub

Reading a sub

- Reading Your sub involves:
  - Patience
  - Focus
  - Practice

• I want Y/you to look around the room at everyone else and when Y/you see a very clear behavior being portrayed by an individual I would like Y/you to raise Y/your hand and identify the person and the behavior your see them portraying

-Let's see if you got it right!

- So what are You looking for?
  - Muscle movement
    - Spasms
    - Twitches
    - Lack of movement
  - Skin Sensitivity
  - Facial Expressions
  - Look of skin
    - Bruising
    - Redness
    - Lack of Color

- Area of the body I look at the most to let Me know how My sub feels...
  - Face and Feet

EXAMPLE:

- Tell-tale signs Your sub is uncomfortable:
  - Rocking back and forth
  - Shaking their head
  - Squirming around
  - Arching their back
  - -Fidgeting

EXAMPLE:

- Tell-tale signs Your sub is comfortable:
  - Rocking back and forth
  - Shaking their head
  - Squirming around
  - Arching their back
  - -Fidgeting

 To practice this on Your own watch TV with no sound on and try and interpret what is going on by watching body language

Reading a sub through sound

 Close Y/your eyes and listen to these two sounds and see what emotions Y/you think they refer to

- Reading through sound requires audible feedback from the submissive
  - This could be
    - Talking
    - Words
    - Noises
    - And even when the sub decides when and when not to make sound

- What are You listening for?
  - Breathing
  - Moaning
  - Panting
  - Crying
  - Mumbling
  - Talking
    - Tonality
    - Volume
  - Lack of sound

Reading a sub through sound

 To practice this on Your own, watch TV with Your eyes closed and imagine what body language/emotion would go along with the dialog/noises

- Have You ever touched Your sub with a cold instrument and felt goose bumps appear on their body?
- This is reading Your sub through touch

- What are You feeling for?
  - Warmth and coldness of skin
  - Raised or indented skin
  - Tender areas
  - Pulse
  - Sensitivity

- Try this...
  - Randomly without anyone chatting I want Y/you to pick whether Y/you want to touch or be touched
  - Now I want Y/you to close your eyes if you are someone who wants to be touched; those who want to touch, choose someone close to Y/you and lightly lay Y/your hand on them

 Touch is one of the most awesome senses and it is one of the senses W/we play with a lot in BDSM

 After analysis of sight and sound regarding the state of the sub, You must be willing to touch them

- Touch can...
  - Give the submissive support through hard play
  - Let the Dom/me know if the sub is hot or cold
  - Let the Dom/me know if the area S/He has played on is done (or if it could use some more)
  - And it can create a connection between the Top and bottom that will help in reading a sub in many other ways

- You must listen to Your instinct
  - What is instinct?
    - Behavior that is mediated by reactions below the conscious level
- Instinct uses all of the previous knowledge you have of how to interpret what people are thinking, how they are acting, and what they are feeling

- How to use your instinct
  - Try and be very perceptive of the environment around You while You are playing
  - Try to recall similar situations You've been in and utilize them during the present
  - If You feel that something is wrong, out-of-place, or if You have no reason other than Your intuition is telling You to do the opposite; follow your gut!

- Instinct is something that is very particular to each individual and it is something that cannot necessarily be taught
- It becomes easier to utilize the more You play and the more You put Yourself in different situations

Practice Time!

- You must utilize
  - Your skills
  - Your previous situational knowledge
  - Your senses
  - And Your intuition
- Through practice and Dom/me-sub communication you can become very good about reading your submissive

